Distributor reporting

Significant dealings outside the target market

Section 994F(6) of the Corporations Act 2001 requires distributors to notify the issuer if they become aware of a significant dealing in the Product that is not consistent with the TMD.

Neither the Act nor ASIC defines when a dealing is 'significant' and distributors have discretion to apply its ordinary meaning.

The issuer will rely on notifications of significant dealings to monitor and review the Product, this TMD, and its distribution strategy, and to meet its own obligation to report significant dealings to ASIC.

Dealings outside this TMD may be significant because:

- they represent a material proportion of the overall distribution conduct carried out by the distributor in relation to the product, or
- they constitute an individual transaction which has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the client (or class of client).

In each case, the distributor should have regard to:

- the nature and risk profile of the Product (which may be indicated by the Product's risk rating or withdrawal timeframes),
- the actual or potential harm to a client (which may be indicated by the value of the client's investment, their intended product use or their ability to bear loss),
- the nature and extent of the inconsistency of distribution with the TMD (which may be indicated by the number of red or amber ratings attributed to the client), including an explanation of why the dealings occurred outside the target market,
- the date range of when the significant dealing occurred,
- the number of clients impacted by the significant dealing (ie the number of clients who are not in the target market (or have been excluded from the target market) as a proportion of all clients who have acquired the Product), and
- the time period in which these acquisitions outside the target market occurred.

Objectively, a distributor may consider a dealing (or group of dealings) outside the TMD to be significant if:

- it constitutes more than half of the distributor's total retail product distribution conduct in relation to the product over the reporting period.

The reporting period is as soon as practicable but no later than 10 business days after becoming aware of the significant dealing.

Complaints

The distributor will provide details of the number and nature of complaints relating to Product design, Product availability and distribution, having regard to privacy.

The distributor should provide details as soon as practicable but no later than 10 business days following the end of the calendar quarter.

Sales outside the target market

To the extent the distributor is aware of dealings outside the target market, including reasons why acquisition is outside of the target market, and whether acquisition occurred under personal advice.

The distributor is to provide details as soon as practicable but no later than 10 business days following the end of the calendar quarter.
